 - B. Preponderance of evidence: A standard of proof, which is met when, based upon all available evidence, it is more likely that something is true than untrue; greater weight of evidence, not as to quantity (number of witnesses), but as to quality (believability and greater weight of important facts); more than 50 percent.

 - C. Reasonable Cause: A suspicion founded upon circumstances sufficiently strong to warrant a reasonable person to believe that the suspicion is true.

 - D. Respondent: The service provider that had responsibility at the time of an alleged rights violation for the services with respect to which a rights complaint has been filed.

 - E. Rights complaint: A written or oral statement filed by a recipient, or another individual on behalf of a recipient, with the Office of Recipient Rights, alleging a violation of the Mental Health Code or Administrative Rules, and which contains the following information:

Appropriate disciplinary action shall be taken for any failure to cooperate;
 5. All employees, volunteers, trainees, recipients, and others who file a complaint or cooperate in an investigation are protected from discrimination, harassment, or retaliation in accordance with applicable laws and agency policies/procedures, and appropriate disciplinary action is taken if this does occur;

2. Any supervisor who receives an allegation of a suspected rights violation shall contact the Office within 24 hours.

B. Filing Rights Complaints

1. The Office of Recipient Rights shall:
 - a. Receive and document all complaints alleging violations of recipients' rights; including violations of Chapters 7 & 7-A of the Michigan Mental Health Code and grievances under section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act 1973, P.L. 93-112 and grievances related to the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA).
 - b. Date, number, and record each rights complaint when it is received and send an acknowledgment, along with a copy of the complaint, to the complainant within 5 business days. If the Office determines that no investigation of the rights complaint is warranted, it shall notify the complainant within 5 business days; if an intervention is undertaken on the recipient's behalf, it will be completed within 30 days;
 - c. Assist the recipient or other individual with the complaint process;

- d. Advise the recipient or other individual that there are advocacy organizations such as Disability Rights Michigan available to assist in preparation of a written rights complaint and offer to refer the recipient or other individual to those organizations. In the absence of assistance from an advocacy organization, the Office shall assist in preparing a written rights complaint;
 - e. Inform the recipient or other individual of the option of mediation;
 - f. Accept complaints that are filed anonymously and protect any information that may lead to the identification of the anonymous complainant;
 - g. Route complaints involving alleged abuse, neglect, serious injury, or death to the Executive Director.
2. When the Office determines that no investigation of the rights complaint is warranted it may inform the complainant of other agencies he or she may contact for complaints outside the agency's jurisdiction and assist if requested by the complainant.
 3. An employee who is aware that a recipient or other individual wants to file a rights complaint shall either assist that person or refer him or her to the Office.

C. Investigation

1. All employees, volunteers, and trainees shall cooperate fully with investigators from the Office of Recipient Rights and other authorized investigative bodies, respond to questions put forth, verbally or in writing, and provide accurate and honest information.
2. The Office of Recipient Rights shall:
 - a. Conduct investigations in a manner that does not violate employee rights.
 - b. Initiate investigation of apparent or suspected rights violations in a timely and efficient manner, subject to delays involving pending action by external agencies including law enforcement, protective services, or licensing entities. The determination of whether an investigation was initiated immediately when there is an allegation of abuse, neglect, serious injury, or the death of a recipient which involves an apparent or suspected rights violation, shall be based on the action taken by the rights office on receipt of the complaint. Steps to initiate an investigation in accordance with this standard shall be taken within 24 hours of the receipt of the complaint and shall be comprised of proactive rights activities. These actions may include contact with the recipient or complainant, phone calls, review of progress notes and case records, and scheduling of interviews. Actions such as logging the complaint and issuing an acknowledgement letter do not constitute a proactive activity. It is important to document the actions taken to immediately initiate, by describing those actions, and indicating when the action was taken, in the Investigative Findings section. The review of an IR that contains an apparent or suspected rights violation does NOT constitute initiation. The information in the IR should be written up in a complaint form, which can then serve as the basis to begin the activities that initiate the investigation. For complaints other than those which require immediate investigation, investigation activities must begin within 10 business days. Again, these must be proactive activities as described above. The investigation shall be completed no later than 90 days after receiving the rights complaint. Investigation shall be initiated immediately in cases involving alleged abuse, neglect, serious injury, or the death of a recipient that involves an apparent or suspected rights violation.

- c. Include as part of the investigative process the following when pertinent to the investigation:
 - (1) An interview with the complainant when circumstances allow, preferably face to face;
 - (2) An interview with the recipient if other than complainant when circumstances allow, preferably face to face;
 - (3) Interviews with all witnesses and others who may provide relevant information, preferably face to face;
 - (4) Interviews with employees, volunteers, and trainees who are alleged to have violated a right, preferably face to face;
 - (5) Written statements from employees, volunteers, trainees, recipients, and relevant others when such a statement is necessary to support oral interviews, to obtain additional information, or to provide findings relevant to the investigation;
 - (6) Review of recipient records and appropriate other documentation;
 - (7) Review of investigations into the same allegation conducted by law enforcement, licensing entities, or others when available;
 - (8) Visit to the site of the alleged violation;
 - (9) Review of pertinent laws, rules, policies and procedures.
- d. Maintain accurate records of investigative activities and findings.
- e. Store all investigative documents and evidence in a secure manner in a locked cabinet in the Office, separate from clinical or personnel records and within the constraints of confidentiality and privileged communications in Sections 748 and 750 of the Mental Health Code.
- f. Determine whether a right was violated by using a preponderance of evidence as the standard of proof.
- g. Monitor progress toward remediation of all substantiated violations of rights.
- 3. The Office may:
 - a. File additional rights complaints when it becomes apparent that other rights may have been violated;
 - b. Consult with the respondent to determine appropriate remedial action.
- 4. If a rights complaint has been filed regarding the conduct of the Executive Director, the Community Mental Health Board shall be notified of the allegation through the Board Chair and the matter shall be referred for investigation to the State Office of Recipient Rights or to another CMHSP, as decided by the Board. Recipient Rights staff cannot conduct investigations when an allegation is made against the CEO of the CMHSP or the director of the hospital they work for or are under contract with. Any discussion and voting in connection with this request shall be reflected in the minutes of the Board.

- d. The investigating office or MDHHS-ORR will follow all investigative protocols and timeframes as indicated in MHC §330.1778. 5.

 - (4) The Program Director of the staff involved will decide an appropriate remedial and/or disciplinary action and have another supervisor/department director review and confirm that it is an appropriate remedial and/or disciplinary action.
 - b. Provide the Office with written documentation of the remedial action for its record.

2. CMHA and respondents shall:
